PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Anniversaries

This year Federal will celebrate 89 years of being “open for business”. Our Anniversary Trade Show is always a big event on our calendar which we look forward to. I hope you can join us on Friday, April 20th.

A less public part of our yearly event normally occurs later in the day when employees gather for special honors and certificates. This year I am told we will honor a 40 year veteran, plus a 30, 20 and others who have served 10 years of less. These dedicated professionals deserve honor and recognition. Our company has been built by men and women who have placed service to our customers as top priority.

Anniversaries remind us of the need to remember. It also encourages us to ponder some deeper questions like “Why am I working?” and “What’s the significance of what I’m doing?” Besides putting food on the table and paying the mortgage, we hope there is a deeper significance. One of my favorite verses from the Psalms addresses this question. Moses, the author of Psalm 90, discusses the brevity of life, then ends the passage with a prayer, “Let Your work appear to Your servants and Your majesty to their children. Let the favor of the Lord our God be upon us; and confirm for us (or give permanence to) the work of our hands. Yes, confirm for us the work of our hands.” We obviously need to look to our Creator for true work satisfaction, fitting into His plans.

Although we can’t know the ultimate significance of our daily work, we can all strive to do our jobs well. What that means for Federal is that we help you be successful in what you’re trying to build, repair or design. We want to serve you and share with you the things we know. So, come celebrate with us. Come to our training courses. Pick up a catalog or two. Let’s do significant work together.
